General Secretary.

I have often observed during my tours and at other times that cartmen do not follow the rule of the road and drive their carts indiscriminately on the high ways. This, I fear, is due more often to their ignorance of the rule than to any wilful negligence to follow it. I think that the best way of enlightening these ignorant villagers is to get the Village Panchayets or the Revenue Agency to announce the rule in all villages by beat of drum and by putting up notices in village chavadis elsewhere and to warn cartmen found violating it.

S Second member suggests that a picture of a cart + bullocks as if in motion may be stencilled on every bridge parapet along the road to the left of the direction in which the cart + bullocks are to proceed. This picture would attract attention and show the drivers that they are to keep to the left of the road. Forwarded with compliments to the Chief Engineer for favour of opinion + return of the file & stencil plate and a picture/sketch for general guidance in issue of orders.

OFFICIAL MEMORANDUM.

ORDER NO. L. 865-74—V. P. 37-30-2, DATED 23RD JULY 1930.

Government have reason to think that the indiscriminate driving of carts on the high ways and the violation of the rule of the road are due more often to the ignorance of the rule than to any wilful negligence on the part of the cartmen. Government consider it necessary to enlighten the cartmen in the matter and are accordingly pleased to direct that Village Panchayets and Revenue Officers be requested to give publicity to the rule in all villages by beat of drum and by putting up notices in the Village Chavadies and other conspicuous places and warn cartmen found violating the rule.

2. A picture of a string of carts and bullocks in motion as sketched below may also be stencilled on one or both sides of every bridge parapet along the road to the left of the direction in which the cart is to proceed so as to attract attention and show to the drivers that they are to keep to the left of the road.
